“E’ una via di mezzo tra un ospedale e una casa di riposo per anziani. Le lenzuola sono pulite, ma non guardate sotto il letto (bleah!)”
- La recensione di un viaggiatore TripAdvisor su un hotel di Las Vegas

“Spettacolare. Assicuratevi di prenotare una stanza sul lato che si affaccia sul fiume, preferibilmente al 12° piano o ancora più in alto. Vedere il sole tramontare sopra la vegetazione è di una bellezza mozzafiato. Ma qualunque sia la sistemazione, in questo hotel non potete sbagliare.”
- La recensione di un viaggiatore TripAdvisor su un hotel in Costa Rica

“Assolutamente disgustoso… Non appena si entra, il puzzo di fumo e l’odore di stantio sono davvero opprimenti”
- La recensione di un viaggiatore TripAdvisor su un hotel nella zona di Londra

“Comprerei questo posto per venirci a vivere – se me lo potessi permettere.”
- La recensione di un viaggiatore TripAdvisor su un hotel di Parigi

Web 2.0 in Italy: open points

WE RISK A GAP BETWEEN THE REAL HOSPITALITY STANDARDS AND THE ON-LINE REVIEWS ON HOTELS

THE HOTELIERS HAVE NOT DEVELOPED SPECIFIC ADV ACTIONS TO TARGET COMMUNITIES YET (VIRAL MARKETING, NEWSLETTERS, ETC.)

COMMUNITIES HAVE BECOME A RELIABLE SOURCE OF INFORMATION. BUT TO WHICH EXTENT?

ITALY: STILL A BACK MARKER?

TRAVELLERS’ SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS IS GETTING STRONGER AND STRONGER: NOWADAYS’ TOURISTS ARE MORE DEMANDING AND CRITICAL.

HOTELIERS STILL FIND HARD DEALING WITH TRAVELLERS’ FEEDBACKS

What’s next?

Following is a preview of the next big wave of ideas that will shape the travel marketplace over the next 12 to 18 months according to PhoCusWright (Data: October 2008).

- The growth of pure Travel 2.0 businesses is slowing dramatically
- Abundant, varied mobile applications are beginning to emerge
- Attention shifts from “learn, shop, book” to the travel value chain. Innovators are recognizing that elements beyond “learn, shop, book” in the travel value chain can be monetized. Expect pre-trip, trip experience, and post-trip technology models to arise.
